Introduction

The tourism, as economic and social phenomenon, knew spectacular and explosive developments in a second half of the twenty century. The wish to travel and to know new things is knew still the ancient times even it have, at the beginning, as main purpose the war, the conquest of new territories or the commercial trades.

In our days the tourism receive a contain much complex looked from the economic, social and spiritual point of view representing the measures ensemble put in application for the organization and development of certain pleasure travels or in other purposes realised through certain organizations, societies or specialised agencies or on one's own account, on a limited period of time.

It can be adding to that the industries which contribute to the tourism needs satisfaction. The tourism potentially is under the influence of the following factors: natural (generally unchanged) and, respective, economic, demographic, political and psychological one (characterised through an accentuated dynamic but with possibilities to be guided in the desired sense).

The tourism potentially and the serving basis lead to a tourism classification on the following categories: mountain and for ski (travel, climatic tourism, winter sports); maritime (climatic cure, heliotherapy, sea baths, therapy mud) - Black Sea; for hunting; cultural (historical and architectonical monuments, museums); sporting (bounded by the great sporting competitions, Olympics game); festivals bounded; commercial (markets, exhibitions).

Some aspects of European tourism potential

Representing the main traditionally region for tourism, the Occidental Europe takes in, among others, the Mediterranean zone, with the biggest tourist concentration in the world, being, in the same time, the area with the ancient traditions; even the main centres are localised on the coast zone, the Mediterranean basin also cover big urban centres (Rome, Venice, Florence, Granada, Cordoba, Athena); to that it can be add the maritime tourism and the cultural, sportive, hotel, and commercial one so that all the year period is used for all purposes. Yearly, those regions receive over 15 million of tourists.

Greece represents maybe the country with the most ancient traditions in tourism, a special attraction being, around the littoral zone, Athena with the surroundings (Pelopones, the Rodos Islands, Crete, Ionice strained of Greeks history and civilisation's evidences).

The Oriental Europe was opened, as touristic area, only in the '90th, on a special interest being the Black Sea resorts, on the Romanian and, also, on the Bulgarian littoral (Varna, Burgas, Gold Sands).

Romanian's touristic potential is gave by the natural resources (the relief variety, the climate, fauna and flora) and, also by other resources (archeological vestiges, historical and architectonical monuments, museums, memorial houses), the last one being an important part of the Romanian tourism and being bounded by the Romanian people forming and continuity, by the ancient walled cities on the Euxin Pont littoral and by the Orăștie ruins.

Although the touristic activity on the Romanian littoral is characterised through a powerful seasoning, the littoral tourism is considered the most important form of tourism in Romania because the littoral offers, around the natural resources (beach and the sea's waters) also balneary resources (thermo mineral water, sapropelic mud). On the Romanian Black Sea's littoral (245km) are arranged sixteen touristic resorts (Năvodari, Mamaia, Eforie Nord, Eforie Sud, Techirghiol, Costinești, Neptun, Olimp, Jupiter, Cap Aurora, Venus, Saturn etc).

The tourism is an industry which benefit by extreme optimistic previsions for the future, its importance became bigger and bigger, at the world, regional, national and local level. Another aspect which must be underlined is the one that the commercialised touristic products must be careful realised to not affect the surrounding environment and the good developing of the touristic activities.

In the same time, the developing of certain competitive products leads to the life quality improvement and to the launching of the favoured regions. The launching of the touristic products also have special effects looking the bounded established between hosts and tourists, as participants at the tourism act.

From the studies realised by specialised institutes of research from eleven countries in which Romania has Touristic Promotion Offices (Austria, Germany, Italy, Finland, Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Great Britain, Spain, France and Denmark) results that Romania has considerable natural resources and a big potential for the tourism development. In the same time, Romania is a destination which surprises the most of the visitors because of the modest initially expectations owned to an appropriate promotion.

The tourism operators are confronted with the positive surprising of the tourists arrived in Romania, the security feeling being one of the aspects which surprise positively the most of the tourists.

With all that, the national tourism was confronted with the influence of certain factors which leads to the market decreasing, such as: the decreasing of the population level of living, the deterioration of the touristic unities, the investments missing, the opening to the exterior.

The situation of the Romanian tourism on the Black Sea seaside, for the 2001-2006 period of time, is presented in Table 1.

The tourism organized by travel agencies on the Black Sea's seaside, in the same period is presented in Table 2.

2. The offer diversification and the increasing of the services quality supposed, as actions, the following one: the development of the touristic products through (the development of the mountain-winter touristic product through the national program "Superski in the Carpathians Mountain"); the completion and the actualisation of the general strategies of the tourism development; the completion and the actualisation of the ecotourism, balneary tourism, religious and cultural tourism and mountain tourism strategies; the Romanian touristic information centre program (the development of the touristic information centre network in the main towns and in the national interest resorts, in the same time with the personnel qualification); the "Blue Flag" program (the yearly implementation program for the new beaches and the national, respective the international inspection for the beaches covered by the program); the increasing of the hotel's services quality program "The Q Sigle" (the correlation of the Q criteria with the actual legislation and the yearly inclusion of new hotels into the program); the yearly realisation of the guide on touristic accommodation structures (hotels, motels, villa, cottages, camping, holiday villages, touristic halting places, pensions, restaurants, tourism agencies etc.); the increasing of the touristic quality services through the authorisation and the control of the activities and personnel from the touristic domain; the development of the research and education in tourism: the national program of the personnel training from/for the hotels industry and tourism (qualification, specialization and perfection courses, seminars, manuals printing, guides etc.); the development of the qualifications specific to the sector; the realisation of an active partnership with the professional, employers and unions associations and with the un governmental organizations, in sense of their participation to the regulations in the tourism domain; the harmonization with the UE countries legislation looking the making actual of the tourism specific regulations according to the UE legislation (the legislation looking the organization and the developing of the touristic activities on the Black Sea's littoral, the authorization and protection measures looking the buildings construction in the Black Sea's coast zone, the approval of the norms and criteria of touristic resorts attestation, the touristic receive structures classification etc.); the harmonization of the tourism indicators according to the UE demands for the purpose of informational system adoption according to the UE demands – The Satellite Account; the establishing of the priorities looking the development of the tourism supporting substructure correlated with the general substructure development.

Representing the most known accommodation traditionally structure, the hotels hold the biggest weight in the accommodation unities ensemble caring out, around the main function of accommodation also a series of connected functions for the purpose of a better satisfaction of the client's demand on all their holiday. The contribution of the hotel unities to the services in the touristic sector became from the physiological necessities (rest and strength) felt by a person during the travel or the holiday if we know that more than a half of a holiday time for a tourist is consumed inside the accommodation unity choose for the holiday.

The food services have as purpose to satisfy the vital food necessities, according to a series of preferences. Because of the bound between the food consumption and the person's health condition, the manager of the food unities are directly responding by the customer's demands satisfaction and by their food security, indifferent if the used products are from own sources or from other economic sectors. The commercial food address to the applicants with certain preferences for food and drinks and is assured by restaurants, coffee houses, bars etc., by unities with similarly profile which belongs to the commercial hotels enterprises or to other independent structures of commercial food.

Especially for the hotel, restaurant or other firms involved in hospitality operations, the success in business depends, on big part, by the satisfied guests loyalty more than the attraction, each time, of new categories of consumers for which are necessary important promotionally efforts.

In the market economy, the competitiveness maintenance suppose, permanently, creativity and innovation for the new products and services development which must be more sophisticated, delicate and more individualized. That three desideratum impose for the touristic enterprise's managers the periodical re evaluation of the market segments dimensions on which they action and the careful analysis of the products and services in the purpose to eliminate from the offers the products and services with accentuated decreasing profitableness.

Beginning with 2008, the classification of the touristic receiving structures have, as priority purpose, the tourists protection looking, first of all, the rooms minimum surface and, also, the eventually existing facilities which permit the granting of a stars number, as the swimming pool, conference room or sports room. Indifferent by the classification exist a series of common rules for all the categories of hotels such as:

- in all receive spaces and in the bathrooms (with the exterior one exception) must be assure, in the cold season, a temperature of minimum 18 C degree and in the warm season of maximum 25 C degree;
- the bathrooms must have permanently warm and cold water, even at one star category;
- the constructions must be realised on a manner to avoid the tourists disturbance because of the noises produced by the building's technical equipments or by other pollution factors;
- are not admitted the underground receive spaces if they have not directly sources of light and ventilation;
- the soft inventory (bedclothes, towels and bath gowns) must be white;
- the obligatory central warming for all types of receiving structures;
- guard own parking (to the 4 stars unities, the apartments hotels and motels; the unities of 2 and 3 stars must have in use auto parking for 20% from the rooms number; the percentage is of 40% at the 4 stars unities and of 50% at the 5 stars one; the one star hotels are not obliged to have parking place);
- the existence of the security and guard service (is not compulsory at one or two stars; is compulsory at three stars with over 50 rooms at to the 4 and 5 stars);
- the air conditioned and the climacteric systems are not compulsory to the hotels, apartments and motels of 1-3 stars inclusive;
- the single room dimension, the proportion of 75% employees which must new a foreign language, the furniture dimension, the texture of the materials used for curtains, draperies or bedclothes are other criteria of hotels structures classification;
- at the 4 and 5 stars category, the bedclothes and the towels must be changed in two days and the bath gowns in three days.

The hotel classification category is conditioned by the total carrying out of the compulsory criteria and by the realization of a minimum score resulted from the evaluation of the supplementary criteria. In this way, for 5 stars is necessary a score of minimum 150 points, for 4 stars minimum 120 points, 70 points for 3 stars and 30 points for 2 stars. The existence of a bar inside the hotel bring 15 points, 10 points are for the existence of the garages for minimum 20 % of rooms, 10 points for guard own parking (for minimum 30 % of rooms), 30 points for a covered swimming pool, 10 points for beauty saloon or for cleaning services, 2 points for free newspaper and magazines inside the receiving unity, 5 points for the rest green space, indifferent of its dimension, for the existence of a tennis playground or for a room with computers and internet access etc.

With all that demands, in 2008 the number of authorized hotels was 981 with a total of 71.643 rooms. In the same period of time, only 15% of the total authorized unities were of superior category with all the increasing demand for that.

In the following one we will present the package of touristic services offered by a series of touristic operators which belong to the category of commercial societies of public food organized as hotels and restaurants and which develop their activity in Romania, on the Black Sea littoral, in the Neptun, Mamaia and Costinești resorts).

Proposals for the improvement of tourist activities in Romania

1. What is necessary for Romania are not indispensable the new inventions from the tourism domain but an adequate marketing and an attention straight to the fact that that country have more opportunities to give for the one interested to try something different.

2. Looking the touristic products, chapter in which Romania, we sadly must say, has more to learn yet, their realization on a superior quality and on the basis of solid researches bounded by the customers demands, can influence the development of the respective zone through: the attracting of a bigger and bigger number of foreign tourists in the area; the modernization and the extension of the transport, food, accommodation substructures to not affect the existing surrounding environment; new jobs and the human resources development through the employees improvement, the keeping of the traditions continuity, of the customs and, also, of the spiritual values.

3. The customer is sovereign and, as result, he is not an „unthinking pawn” manipulated to buy everything the trader offers to him. As a rule, the customer behaviour is decided and orientated to a purpose, the products and services being accepted according to the induced satisfaction reported to the needs and to the own life style.

4. Never after a research can't make a perfect prediction of the customer behaviour looking the products and services offered by the tourism operators. With all that, a correct projection and good oriented research effort can reveal significant marketing error and can orientate the tourism activity in the future.

The implementation of these ideas, thereupon we can add other issues for improvement and development of Romanian tourism, is a real chance to increase the number of Romanian and foreign tourists, and the registration of the Romanian tourism in the category of the European one.
